DR. H. C. SMITH ELECTED SECRETARY ECLECTIC STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY

The forty-seventh annual convention of the California Eclectic State Medical Society has just completed a three-day session at Fresno, California, which is the home city of the retiring president, Dr. Ira A. Wheeler.

Interesting papers were read by physicians from various cities in the state, Southern California being especially well represented.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were:

President, Dr. D. A. Stevens of Los Angeles.

First V.-P., Dr. George Meracle of Caruthers.

2d V.-P., Dr. E. C. Bond of Hanford.

Corresponding Secretary, Dr. W. E. Daniels of Long Beach.

Recording Secretary, Dr. H. C. Smith of Glendale.

Treasurer, Dr. J. A. Munk of Los Angeles.

Glendale physicians attending the convention were: Dr. H. V. Brown, Dr. H. C. Smith and Dr. T. C. Young.

SCHOOL BUDGETS

At their regular meeting Thursday evening it is expected that the trustees of city schools will adopt a budget to be submitted to the county supervisors as an index of the needs of the schools. Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, states, however, that Supervisor Bean indicated to him, that a budget was expected to be furnished by the Los Angeles city schools which would determine action by the supervisors as any increase in the tax rate made for the benefit of the city schools would be county wide and apply to all the schools. The law gives school boards until June 10 to notify teachers of their reappointment and the trustees are hoping the supervisors will act promptly so they may know what they can do.

MEMORIAL SERMON

LESSONS GARNERED FROM CONFLICTS POINTED OUT BY REV. C. M. CRIST

At the First Methodist Church Sunday Dr. C. M. Crist addressed an audience that completely filled the large auditorium. Special invitations had been extended to members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C., The American Legion, and kindred organizations. An excellent musical program appropriate to the occasion was rendered by the large vested choir, with Miss Isabelle Isgrig directing, and Mrs. H. W. Randall at the organ.

Dr. Crist chose as the text for his memorial sermon Hebrews 11:4, "He being dead yet speaketh." He said in part:

"The mémorial idea has come to us down the years from the dim and distant past. It is the spontaneous impulse of every normal soul to erect a monument in sacred memory of those who suffer and sacrifice for others. The monument is not always a marble shaft or high mound or pyramid. In fact, the most enduring monuments are not composed of granite, marble, or bronze; but those embodied in tender words and graven on the hearts and minds of a grateful people."

"Jesus Christ set His seal of approval upon the memorial idea when He said in reference to His most sacred institution, the Lord's Supper, 'Do this as oft as ye do it in remembrance of Me.' Of her who's tender ministry in the breaking of the alabaster box upon His feet, He said, 'Wherever this Gospel is preached this that she hath done shall be spoken as a memorial of her.'

"It is the same kind of appreciation that caused the American people to set aside the 30th of May each year as 'Memorial Day.' At this time we recount the valorous deeds of our soldiers and sailors, and decorate their graves with the most beautiful of flowers. However much of love and tenderness have been evidenced in the observance of this day in the past, today there is a more profound reverence attached to it, as we remember the heroes of the world's greatest war. We have now the sacred privilege of placing upon our honor roll, not only the veterans of the sixties, and the Spanish-American soldiers, but those who composed the American Expeditionary Forces. With an enthusiasm born of

MEMORIAL SERVICE

IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES AT FOREST LAWN MEMORIAL PARK LARGELY ATTENDED

Soon after 2 o'clock the program arranged for the memorial services in Forest Lawn Memorial Park Monday afternoon began. Previous to that time the aged veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic escorted by the City Trustees and attended by the members of the Women's Relief Corps and by bands of school children had arrived and taken their places upon the platform erected for the exercises of the day and shortly after came the men of the Glendale Post, American Legion, led by the Pasadena Band. Also in attendance to honor both the Legion and the N. P. Banks Post were troops of Boy Scouts under their Scout Masters, and a group from the L. A. Military Academy.

While the central figures were taking their places in the foreground a reverent throng of men, women and children had gathered to witness and hear the program. Circled as they were around the rostrum it was impossible to make any accurate estimate of attendance, but it must have equaled several thousand.

The program began with the singing of "America" by all present. It was followed by the vocal solo, "Now the Boys Are Home" by Constance Balfour, and prayer by Rev. C. R. Norton. President Flint of the Cemetery Company announced that the first part of the program would be in charge of representatives of the G. A. R. and the Order of the Day, promulgated May 5, 1868, was read by Commander Jones of the N. P. Banks Post, followed by the realistic service of the day in which the Commander was assisted by Rev. C. R. Norton as chaplain.

Adjutant Tom Barrett then read the names of nine comrades who had "answered the roll call since last Memorial Day," viz:

J. J. Weiler, J. B. Hickman, W. G. Gibbons, Oscar Matson, R. D. Goss, A. B. Webster, William Watson, B. F. Patterson and James M. Wells.

Adjutant Barrett then introduced Clarence Ralston, a High School student, who won the Southern California championship two years ago and who now recited in quite an impressive manner, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. A mocking bird in a tree near by sang a flute-like accompaniment while he was speaking.

Commander Jones then presented Rev. B. Dudley Snudden to make an address on behalf of the Post and of the American Legion. As a former resident and pastor in Glendale, and an ex-war worker under the Y. M. C. A., he was warmly greeted with applause.

He referred to a scene in which he participated a year ago at Memorial services held over the graves of American soldiers in France in which British and Belgian soldiers took part, and French soldiers and civilians stood at attention, and of another gathering at a small cemetery.

CHANGE FOR D. RIPLEY JACKSON

Mr. and Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson have voted themselves a change of residence without leaving Glendale. They have just purchased the attractive property at the corner of Brand and San Fernando Road built by Allen E. Boyce and occupied for a time by the parents of Marie Osborne, the child movie actress. Mr. Jackson is having the property improved and put in order inside and outside the residence and will not take possession until this work is completed which he expects will be about the first of July. He will then put upon the market his present residence at 214 East Chestnut street. The new location is at the junction of two boulevards and commands a fine mountain view. Mr. Jackson plans to make it a show place.

EASTERN STAR CARD PARTY

A quite informal but very delightful card party was enjoyed by members of the Eastern Star chapter of the Masonic Temple Friday evening. Mrs. C. O. Pulliam was chairman of the committee of arrangements and was assisted by Mrs. Fred Deal and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cornwell. There were nine tables and Five Hundred and Bridge were played, the high scores for Five Hundred being won by E. L. Parke and Mrs. Edward Carvel, the honors in Bridge, Mrs. Sallie Braden and A. M. Beaumont.

CHARGES AGAINST SECRETARY POST

ATTORNEY GENERAL PALMER SAYS HE HAS SYSTEMATICALLY BLOCKED DEPORTATIONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—By his wholesale jail deliveries and release of self-confessed anarchists of criminal type, Assistant Secretary of Labor Post is seeking to block the enforcement of the deportation laws and to bring into "public disrepute" the law officers of the government, Attorney General Palmer today charged before the House Rules Committee.

Palmer's statement was in answer to Post's recent testimony before the committee during a hearing on the resolution of Representative Hoch which would start impeachment proceedings against the labor official. Post claimed Palmer had mistreated aliens held for deportation and violated the laws regarding them. Similar charges were made by the National Popular Government League.

Palmer characterized Post's charges as outrageous and unconscionable falsehoods. Declaring that Post believed the deportation law wrong, Palmer said: "By his self-willed and autocratic substitution of his personal viewpoint; by his habitual tender solicitude for the social revolutionists and perverted sympathy for criminal anarchists, he has constantly deprived the people of their day in court in the enforcement of a law of vital importance to their peace and safety."

CONSORTIUM A SUCCESS

THOMAS W. LAMONT RETURNS FROM FAR EAST AFTER ENLISTING JAPAN IN MOVEMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The success of the Consortium of English, American, French and Japanese for the benefit of China now rests "not upon governments but upon private citizens and their support," declared Thomas D. Lamont today in his first public expression since his return from the far east.

Lamont, representing the J. P. Morgan Company, went to Japan and China as the spokesman of the consortium. He successfully overcame the objections of the Japanese government and bankers with the result that Japan entered the consortium on an equal basis with other nations. Lamont said the maintenance of American trade in the far east rested upon the success of the consortium. He was addressing the Commercial Club at a luncheon. Immediately after the luncheon he left for New York.

BUILDING IN SEATTLE CRIPPLED

WALK-OUT OF BUILDING TRADES IN EFFORT TO BRING ABOUT CLOSED SHOP

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SEATTLE, June 1.—Building trades walked out here today. They are trying to enforce the closed shop and refuse to work on jobs where the open shop is in vogue. The Building Trades Council has 5000 members. Attempted mediation by Mayor Caldwell failed.

QUAKER OATS CASE SETTLED

GOVERNMENT ASKS SUPREME COURT TO DISMISS PROCEEDINGS IN ANTI-TRUST CASE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The government today asked the Supreme Court to dismiss the anti-trust proceedings started several years ago against the Quaker Oats Company. The action ends a cause which resulted when the Great Western Cereal Company and the Quaker Oats Company combined June 22, 1911.

REPUBLICAN DELEGATION CONTESTS

PRESENT OUTLOOK INDICATES GENERAL WOOD WILL LOSE CLAIMED DELEGATION AT LARGE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, June 1.—Indications at the opening of the Republican National Committee's contest hearings today were that General Wood would lose another claimed delegation at large. The sub-committee reporting on the Florida contest involving three sets of delegates indicated it would move to unseat the regulars pledged to General Wood. It primarily eliminated a group of delegates pledged to Governor Lowden. The third group, apparently favored, was headed by H. L. Anderson and was designated as "Anti-Wood." Further time for arguments was granted the two delegations and the committee's first task today was the hearing of the contest for the District of Columbia.

Excess delegates will be seated with their state delegations if the recommendation of the sub-committee is adopted by the main committee. The adoption of the recommendation would mean the seating of from 53 to 60 men. The sub-committee got the architects to agree that the space could be provided. The situation arose when in healing factional difficulties some states chose eight instead of four delegates at large giving each man one-half a vote.

The committee demanded that accredited representatives of presidential candidates file their names with the secretary.

$27,000 FIRE

JOHN ROBERT WHITE'S HOME DESTROYED AND MOST OF CONTENTS

At 2:30 yesterday afternoon the John Robert White home at 347 North Orange was discovered to be on fire and an alarm sent in to which the fire companies responded in full force. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Joseph living just north, Mrs. W. E. Evans, just south, and Fred Roberts, down on Myrtle, seemed to make the discovery at the same time, and all report that when they got to the yard flames and smoke were pouring from the roof and the rear part of the house was all ablaze. The fire engines and firemen got to the scene in a very short space of time and streams of water were soon being poured on the flames. So thoroughly was this work done that trees growing close to the walls of the house were damaged hardly at all. The fire seems to have started in the kitchen and worked rapidly straight up to the attic and then burst through the roof. Hardly anything was saved from the house, as the deluge of water poured on it made entry impossible. Only the clothing they wore and a few things of the boys, with a curtain or two, one chair and a sewing table were snatched from the burning. Mr. and Mrs. White estimate their loss on the house at $12,000 to $15,000, with $12,000 insurance, and on the furnishings about $12,000, with only $3000 insurance. Included in the loss were several priceless heirlooms, some brought from England, a number of costly tapestries, etc. They are thankful no one was hurt and are very grateful for the many expressions of sympathy and offers of help. They hope to be able to obtain possession of their cottage at Hermosa Beach, which they had leased for the summer. If so they will live in that until they can rebuild. The walls of the house are still standing and the roof timbers did not give way, but of course an entire rebuilding will be necessary. They have owned the property for 9 years.

The origin is a mystery. The children were all away and the house locked. Mr. and Mrs. White went away at 1 o'clock, to witness the Decoration Day exercises at Forest Lawn. He returned at 1:45 to change the sprinkler on the lawn, but did not go into the house. At 2:30 the fire was discovered.

ACCIDENT TO MRS. KNOX

Mrs. Katherine Knox, mother of William F. Knox of 118 South Kenwood street, had the misfortune to fall when alighting from a Pacific Electric car while on her way to attend the Memorial day exercises at Forest Lawn cemetery Monday afternoon. She was able to make her way to the office of the company where she found Mrs. Jennie Phillips who knew her and who at once called Dr. Boyer, who happened to be on the grounds. He found she was suffering from a dislocated shoulder and gave her first aid and she was then taken to her home on South Isabel street, subsequently going to the Glendale Sanitarium for additional treatment, but is now at home. Mrs. Knox was on the eve of starting for the east and had her trunk all packed for the journey. The accident will upset her plans and delay her trip.

HOME DANCING PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutchinson entertained Saturday night for their son, Ralph. Not all the invited guests were able to be there because of week-end engagements which were the combination of the Memorial day and week-end holidays which led to so many excursions. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and the same general arrangements prevailed as at the party the evening before. Those present were Guy Bennett, Stewart McMillan, Harold Duey, Lucy Strothers, Elizabeth Webb, Virginia Chappius, Dorothy Breeze, Ralph and Paul Hutchinson. Dancing was the chief diversion and was followed by refreshments served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin left Saturday morning for Lyons Springs and returned Monday night. They found that the popularity of that camp is not confined to the Franklin family as ninety automobiles were parked there. In spite of the competition of anglers, Mr. Franklin got the limit of fish from the north fork of the Matilla River where he cast his line.

BUILDING PERMITS

MAY TOTAL IS $2 WITH VALUATION OF $99,944, NEARLY ALL RESIDENCES

Glendale's remarkable building record was sustained by May's contribution, which totaled $2 permits, with a valuation of $99,944. This is really wonderful when it is considered that only one small business house is included in this record and the largest permit issued was for an $8,000 residence. Reports in the big dailies tell of a great falling off of permits in large cities all over the nation, during the month of May, the drop amounting to many millions. So far as heard from no city of any size has beaten Glendale's record in proportion to population. Following is a detailed list of the permits issued:

Nathan Rigdon, 8-room residence and garage at 244 W. Doran. Owner contractor ..... 8,000

Dr. R. E. Chase, 7-room adobe residence and garage at 219 N. Orange. H. W. McMullin contractor ..... 6,500

Geo. F. Staub, 4-room residence at 403 W. Lexington Drive, rear, Kent & Son contractors ..... 4,000

W. A. Hail, 5-room residence and garage on Colina Drive, owner contractor ..... 4,000

LEGISLATIVE RATIFICATION FINAL

SUPREME COURT HOLDS OHIO'S EFFORTS TO WITHDRAW RATIFICATION ARE UNCONSTITUTIONAL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Ohio referendum of last November as a result of the state's efforts to withdraw its legislative ratification of the prohibition amendment is unconstitutional, the Supreme Court today decided. The court held that the ratification of any constitutional amendment by a legislature is final. It also granted an injunction restraining the state officials from submitting the woman's suffrage amendment to a referendum next fall.

The Ohio legislature ratified the prohibition amendment but the "wets" succeeded in calling a referendum and the voters decided against national prohibition.

POLITICAL CHAOS IN FAR EAST

FRANK VANDERSLIP PLEADS FOR AMERICAN AWAKENING TO RESPONSIBILITIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Frank A. Vanderlip, banker, today pleaded that America recognize responsibility as regards the far east "that ought to lead us to something better than destructive criticism."

Vanderlip has just returned from China and Japan. "I have returned," he said, "with the feeling that political chaos in the far east is far greater than the American people realize. It is time for the United States to awake to a realization that more than five million people have fallen into a state of political chaos. This is not a situation in which America can shirk responsibility, much as many Americans would like to do so." He addressed the San Francisco Center of the California Civic League.

GOOD-BYE TO THE "PENNY"

If the bill passed by the senate to authorize coinage of a Roosevelt 2-cent piece becomes a law, the colloquially misnamed "penny" is likely to become as rare as a wet oasis in America. As a purchasing medium the smallest of our coins has little value; in years to come it may gain dignity and worth as a curio, but in the meantime it serves chiefly to weigh down the pocket.

A few years ago a multitude of articles could be bought for a cent each. Now a cent does little more than pay the war tax on an inexpensive drink. And so great is the number of articles not priced in multiples of five, with or without the tax, that the mint has been forced to strain its resources to supply the demand. Thus we have the anomalous situation that whereas the cent was never less valuable it was never more necessary.

The first United States coinage act, that of 1792, provided for a copper half-cent. Glorious days, those, when a half-cent was worth the bother. It also provided for a copper cent, and to this day the smallest coin is referred to as the "copper penny," though it is neither of copper nor a penny; the cents of today are basically bronze. One feature of the restoration of the two-cent coin that will bring inconvenience is the difficulty of adapting cash holding and registering devices to the new piece. Banks and business houses are likely to be seriously embarrassed for awhile and the need for new models of coin machines will probably keep factories busy for months.

Only time will reveal whether the two-cent piece will be long popular, although it will commend itself at once if it relieves the average man of the necessity of carrying as many "pennies" as now is compulsory.

NO PAPER FOR SPEECHES

The paper shortage has been brought home painfully and personally to the senators and congressmen who are candidates for re-election. According to custom, the government printing office has been looked to for reprints of campaign speeches from the Congressional Record, which in former years have been circulated by the hundreds of thousands among the people back home.

But the printing office has just been obliged to issue notice that no more orders for speeches can be filled because of the inability to get the paper and that the paper shortage is becoming so acute that even the publication of the Congressional Record itself may have to be suspended, or least very materially curtailed.

CHRISTIAN LIVING

BE CAREFUL FOR NOTHING—BE PRAYERFUL FOR EVERYTHING—THANKFUL FOR ANYTHING

Elder W. D. MacLay, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church, incorporated into his Saturday morning sermon some very practical lessons. He took Philippians 4:6 as his leading text, saying that in this verse is contained the essence of Christian living or experience. In order to apply it to every day use Elder MacLay paraphrased the text under three subdivisions: "Be careful for nothing; prayerful for everything, and thankful for anything."

"Being careful for nothing" was interpreted to mean "do not worry." "Many Christians worry fully as much as unbelievers," the speaker asserted. "The Lord is able to carry all our burdens as well as ourselves if we will but trust Him. We worry over matters, business and otherwise, until gray hairs appear, yet who ever succeeded in passing off gray hairs at the bank as an asset? The Lord has a definite plan for every one if we will but learn to trust instead of worry. Christ said, 'Let not your heart be troubled.'

Commenting on his second thought, "be prayerful for everything," Elder MacLay said he believed that one should go to God with all one's troubles whether physical, mental or spiritual; not as a last resort or court of final appeal but the very first thing.

"Prayer," he said, "brings success. It breaks down barriers, discloses the Fatherhood of God, thus showing the brotherhood of man. An aristocratic clergyman's interest was aroused when he discovered the fact that a ragged errand boy who stood at his door knew nothing of God, prayer, catechism or the scriptures. Much horrified at such a state of affairs in London town, the clergyman forthwith began to teach the lad the Lord's prayer. At the first phrase—Our Father who art in heaven—the boy interrupted his teacher. 'Is He your Father, and my Father?' he asked, eagerly. 'Then you and I are brothers! Why do you not invite your brother in?'

The third subdivision, "Be thankful for anything," was interpreted to mean troubles as well as blessings. Bible examples were cited of some who rejoiced in tribulation. David, who wrote the 34th Psalm, when in great distress, and Paul, who sang when shut up in prison at Philippi, were two striking examples of this virtue.

The speaker concluded his remarks by saying that when Christians learn these three lessons of trust, prayer and praise such a mighty power will be manifested in their lives as will shake the earth, even as the power of God which shook the fetters from Paul and his companions in prison after he had sought, trusted and praised the God in whom he believed.

LEST WE FORGET

Flags battle worn, and muffled drum, Forms bent with age, and footsteps slow, A remnant of our heroes come Their love and gratitude to show. If strewing flowers our love could tell, A mantle of rich bloom we'd spread O'er the faithful brave who sleep so well— An army of our honored dead.

The ties that bound their fate with ours, In those dark days are binding yet. Then come dear Comrade, scatter flowers— Lest we forget—Lest we forget.

—H. E. Loveless.

MAKE FIREBREAKS ALONG SIDES OF GRASS GROWN LOTS

The fire department made a quick run Saturday afternoon to 369 Milford, where Mrs. McBoyle's house was endangered by a grass fire. The smoke poured over and about the house so thickly that it really seemed to be on fire. The blaze was soon put out. Capt. Jack Wagnon says he is urging every householder next to a grass-grown lot to take a hoe and make a wide firebreak alongside the building for its full length or further, then there will be no danger when the lot is burned over. This seems to the Evening News like a very wise suggestion and it is hoped it will be generally adopted.

Bentley-Built Homes Make Women Happy

A large part of a woman's interest is in her home. That's one reason why she should have a home of her own—but not the only reason.

The average American family must consider finances when any move is contemplated and from this standpoint alone every family should own a home. It's good business in the long run.

It's far better policy to be making payments on a home—to be getting something for your money—than to be charging the monthly check to expense, as rent.

"Prices are too high to build now," is an oft-heard excuse for delay in building a home. After all prices are relative and building costs are no higher than the prices you pay for other things—many of them unnecessary.

Bentley's Building Service makes it possible for the family of moderate means to build a home. Come in and see our plans and hear our proposition.

Some went by auto and others by street car, all meeting at the Eagle Rock station and from there journeying to Eagle Rock Park where an auto, laden with good things to eat, awaited the hungry party, having foreseen their need and preceded them to the park. Returning to Eagle Rock Park the young people enjoyed some regular picnic games before leaving for Glendale.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH*GOODLY SUM RAISED FOR THE CHURCH SCHOOL; PREACHERS' SONS VINDICATED

Rev. F. M. Rogers filled the pulpit at Central Christian church Sunday morning and he set forth before the congregation the vital need in California of a church educational institution and plead for contributions to the $800,000 fund being raised for the establishing of a "School of Christianity" in connection with the University of California, southern branch, all but $80,000 of which sum, he stated, has been pledged. The congregation, though in a strenuous campaign of its own to erect a new house of worship, responded with pledges of $3960, which will be increased later on.

In the evening, Rev. Cole spoke on the subject of preachers' sons and the well known fallacy so often given forth that they are worse than the sons of members of other professions. He showed by statistics that the opposite is true, not only in this country but in England, for more than twice as many preachers' sons have risen to fame in both countries than sons of men in any other profession or calling. He also referred to the fact that in 1916 both presidential candidates of the leading parties, Charles Evans Hughes and Woodrow Wilson, were preachers' sons.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB

The Fortnightly Club was entertained Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Puffer on Vine street. High scores were made by Mr. Puffer and by Mrs. Francis J. W. Henry. The company was entertained with several charming musical numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker and by Mrs. Roscoe Puffer, Jr., who is a talented musician. The delicious supper which followed the play was served in the dining room, guests gathering around the big table which was decorated with flags and with flowers in the national colors. Covers were laid for Messrs. and Mesdames H. B. Howeth, Francis J. W. Henry, J. I. Wernette, A. A. Barton, R. A. Puffer, Charles H. Parker, Mrs. Frank Ayars, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Puffer Jr.

LEADING UP TO MEMORIAL DAY

The special patriotic assembly at Glendale High Friday forenoon was addressed by Comrade Sinclair, who made the chief talk on "Patriotism" and also by Past Commander Martin and Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshel, member of the local W. R. C. and also Department Chaplain. The two last mentioned simply gave a word of greeting. Mrs. Houdyshel declares they were royally received by the students and their program embellished by delightful songs by the Boys' Glee Club and numbers by the High School Orchestra directed by Mrs. Dora Gibson, who is the mother of an ex-service man.

At the Columbus Avenue School addresses were made by Comrades Kenyon of Hollywood and Collins of Glendale, also by Mrs. C. L. Peckham, past president of the local Women's Relief Corps, who said to the children: "I am here to remind you of your sacred duty to the defenders of this great Republic and our American Flag, which now means more to us because our boys have brought it unsullied through another great conflict. It is the spirit of '76 and '61 revived in this generation which made such endeavors possible. I have often thought of Lincoln and imagined the words of endearment he would have given these boys as he gave to his own 'boys in blue.' The civil war and the world war were fought for the same purpose—to preserve the honor of our country and the 'stars and stripes.' The deeds are done and we have set aside one day in the year to recall the merits of the most wonderful of men. It is Decoration Day. I ask you with grateful and loving hearts to decorate with flowers the graves of our fallen heroes of '61 and in memory of the boys of 1916 and 1917."

MEMORIAL SERMON

"We thank God with hearts aglow for the men of another generation as well as those of our own, who went forth to battle for us. We pause to do them honor, and to inquire into the deeper meaning of life for ourselves, 'they being dead yet speak.' What is their message? The essential idea of 'Memorial Day' is not to keep alive feelings of vengeance and hatred; it is not to revive sectional strife and discord, but there is a double purpose to be accomplished. First, to commemorate the self-sacrificing deeds of brave and heroic men; to cover the graves of the blue, the gray and the khaki with emblems of love and appreciation. Our second purpose should be to get down deep in our own consciousness some thoughts that shall bring us to a more noble citizenship. The most practical way to demonstrate our gratitude to those who have passed down to us our valued heritage is to diligently inquire as to our own duties; to strive for a personal equipment that will help us to preserve and perpetuate those ideals and institutions fostered by them. The battles of our country have not all been fought. There are conditions existing now that call for the same heroic spirit that has animated others. There never was a greater demand for men; men whose integrity can stand the strain to which it is subjected in the professional, political, and commercial life of our day. The need of our times is for strong, clean men. We might well pray with the poet: "God give us men! Time like this demands strong minds, great hearts, true faith, and ready hands. Men whom the lust of office does not kill; Men whom the spoils of office can not buy. Men who possess opinions and a will, Men who have honor—men who will not lie. Men who can stand before a demagogue and scorn his treacherous flat-ties without winking. Grand men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog in public life and in private thinking. For, while the rabble with their thumb-worn creeds Their loud profession and their little deeds mingle in selfish strife, lo! freedom weeps. Wrong rules the land while waiting justice sleeps."

"We cannot separate ourselves from the burning questions before our present day civilization. As good citizens of the greatest republic on earth we must help settle the issues before us. The problems facing President Wilson are as momentous as those which confronted Lincoln. Let us not live in a fool's paradise by thinking that conditions will miraculously adjust themselves. What we need, and need tremendously, is strong convictions and a mighty courage. In other words, we are the spirit of you men of the sixties—of you men of the Spanish-American conflict—of you men of the world's greatest war! May this Decoration Day service call us one and all to his task!"

MEMORIAL SERVICE

terry where they were met by a

French woman leading a band of children carrying flowers and of her address to the American representatives, in which she said: "Fear not. Just as long as France lives your graves in France will be kept green.

Go home and tell the loved ones of these heroes sleeping here that France is grateful; that she will always remember those who died for her and who died for humanity. These graves will be covered with flowers every Memorial Day henceforth just as long as freedom lives."

"In all our wars we have learned the value of unity and yet in this last war we saw in dark places men of hyphenated citizenship. The time has come when we can have only one citizenship in this country. We have only room for 100 per cent American citizenship throughout this wide country. (Great applause).

"Today we are facing the menace to the Monroe doctrine and radicals all along the land are threatening to undermine our constitution. Our interference in the affairs of other nations is the cause. In the name of these men who fought in three wars we must advocate a 100 per cent American citizenship all the time and everywhere. These heroes of the American Legion have laid at the feet of the American people the victory won on the other side of the seas and they say: 'We give you what we won. Build now the future of the world.' It is for us to say whether the stars and stripes shall stand in the van in a great future of the world." (Applause).

Mr. Snudden's address was followed by a number by the Pasadena Band, and another vocal solo by Constance Balfour—"I Am Thinking Today of a Land Far Away."

President Flint of the Cemetery Company then explained that William Gibbs McAdoo had been invited to make an address and had promised to do so if he could so arrange his affairs as to make it possible, but inasmuch as he was not present Major J. C. Schindler of the United States Army would take his place. Major Schindler was then introduced. He warmly greeted the previous speaker, grasping Rev. Snudden by the hand and paying a high tribute to his address and to his sentiment in regard to there being room in this country for but one kind of American. Said he:

"Our entrance into this great world struggle implied two things, first: that being in the battle line we would stay in that line until victory had been achieved; second: that being a party to strife we wanted to be a party to the making of that peace for which our boys had fought. (Applause)."

"We are neither anti-British nor pro-British; we are neither anti-French nor pro-French, but by the eternal God in the presence of these men of '61 and the men of the recent war America is more pro-American than ever before." (Applause).

He recited in wonderfully dramatic manner the things proposed in connection with the war which were pronounced impossible and which "nevertheless we did," and then asked the question why, answering it by saying: "It was because the American heart and the American conscience were as in 1776, 1812, 1861 and in 1898 had faith in American institutions." (Applause). "It made us the master nation of the world. He that holds in His hand the destinies of nations has made this statement: 'He would that become master let him become the servant of all.' We have been the servant nation of the world, therefore we have become the master nation of the world, and by the grace of the eternal God we shall remain the master as long as we are the servant of the nations of the world. (Applause).

"Out of this sad memorial several things have come to the surface. One of the first things was the question of language. God hasten the day when no man will be permitted to vote an American ballot who cannot think in and speak the language of his flag. (Applause). A few years ago you hailed the slogan, 'Let us make the world safe for democracy.' We say: 'Let us make the world safe for American democracy.' (Applause).

"The next thought is the interpretation of fundamental law. The clenched fist which declares: 'These are my rights before the law and I demand them' is Bolshevism; but the voice that asks: 'What are my obligations under the law?' that is one hundred per cent Americanism. You people who have gathered for this Memorial Day after an experience of 145 years of independence must think of these things and be prepared not simply to die for them but to live for them day by day.

"Do you think that we need any league, or any association with any foreign nation to tell us how to interpret the American constitution after all these years? (Cries of No, No, Never). Your army and your navy whether we have to fight or whether we are in times of peace will do what God Almighty tells us to do."

At the close of the address the audience united in singing "The Star Spangled Banner," and then the members of N. P. Banks Post, Women's Relief Corps and Glendale Post of the American Legion formed in line and marched to the symbolic grave which was decorated with flowers with appropriate ceremonies and military salutes.

Before that time, about midway in the afternoon's exercises a dirigible from the U. S. Navy at San Pedro, attended by two airplanes had circled above the park and dropped flowers upon the symbolic grave and upon the people gathered for the services and while this pretty tribute was being paid, other exercises were suspended.

COWARDS IN BATTLE

illustrious ancestors, the gracious favor which the Lord has shown us as a nation; but let us not depend too much upon these things, remembering the cowardice of the men of Ephraim who after receiving all the favors of the Lord, turned back from battle. Sometimes I have been asked if I wanted to turn back to the ways of the Pilgrim Fathers with their blue laws and peculiar narrow views. Want to go back? Why I tell you if we turn to the Pilgrim Fathers we shall be going the other way.

They gave us everything we have in our national life, all that is good in it we got from them—turn back to them! no. Rather let us speed up. They laid for us the foundations of the church and the school; let us hold fast to the things the Pilgrim Fathers bequeathed to us.

"As a church and a people we have a wonderful history, but these will not save us. We must strive constantly to so live that it may be said of us that we were true to those forefathers of ours who did not turn back in the day of battle. We salute today the fathers of the church who went cheerfully to the stake, giving their lives rather than turn back. How often it happens that unworthy children grieve the hearts of parents and show themselves unworthy in the day of trial.

"Back in Illinois stands the old church in which Abraham Lincoln worshipped. Today they will point to the very pew in which he sat and the memory of him will be an inspiration, but yet in the City of Springfield where he lived and where his memory is cherished, there have been acts by men in public place which were a disgrace and a shame to the city. No, ancestry and example are not enough. Today and tomorrow they will place wreaths upon the tomb of Lincoln and eloquent words will be spoken in his memory, but men will yet forget and follow not in his footsteps.

"We in Southern California live in a wonderful country, highly favored by the Creator of it all, but yet notwithstanding God's munificent gifts to us, there are those who hang back and refuse to go forward to battle at the Lord's command.

whether we are cowards or not in this matter. The first is the acid test, Love of God, as set forth in His Word. Here it is: 'If ye love Me keep My commandments,' and again: 'If any man says he loves Me and yet hateth his brother, the same man is a liar and the truth is not in him.'

"The second test is obedience, the command of the Lord is to go forward. Shall we turn back from battle?

"And the third is Endurance. When in youth you started out to follow the Lord, did you persevere and not turn back?

"But the most essential thing in the soldier is the true Spirit. The men of Ephraim were skilled in the use of arms, they had excellent weapons, but they lacked that spirit which should have made them invincible. We must gird ourselves with the 'Sword of the Spirit' when we go forth to war. Fathers in Israel have you the Faith in God which will enable you to bring up your children so that they may have the same inspiration? Mothers, have you the spirit of the Spartan mother who when she sent her son to battle told him to bring back his shield with victory or to come back on it?

Children, have you the spirit of your forefathers that will enable you to go forth and conquer? Remember that when the day of battle comes, you must go forward and not backward—there are only two kinds of soldiers, the hero and the coward.

"Choose you this day whom you will serve."
